

Holt County Sentinel, Oregon, Missouri.

FRIDAY MORNING, AUG. 30, 1867.

We place an X after the names of subscribers, when the term of subscription has expired. If they do not then renew within a reasonable time, we take it for granted they do not wish the paper longer, and drop their names from the list.

Subscriptions received and forwarded by the following named authorized agents:

GEO. WEBER, Esq., Forest City.
WM. HOBLITZEL, Mound City.
A. J. CASTLE, Oregon.
B. F. POTTER, P. M. Oregon.
ROBT MARKLAND, Rush Bottom.

The Union Pacific Railroad, on the Omaha Branch, has been completed 540 miles west of Omaha.

BOUNTY claims are being settled by the Department at Washington at the rate of four thousand per day.

REGISTRATION in Louisiana is completed, and shows that the colored voters have a majority of 38,175.

THE employees on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad are on a strike, and no trains are allowed to run either way. Some engineers were sent down from the Illinois Central road, but the strikers would not let them work. No violent or riotous proceedings have occurred.

ABOUT four weeks ago General Cook came upon a camp of Indians in Pueblo Mountains, and surrounded and killed nearly all of them. Subsequently, another camp, about eight miles from Fort Warren, was found and served in the same manner. Fifty Indians were killed, altogether. The Boise Indians, from Warren Springs, under command of Capt. Darragh, did the fighting, backed by United States troops.

IMMIGRATION—OUR DUTY.

SINCE it is evident that Missouri is to have a large portion of the immigration that will be moving Westward the coming year, it is important that we keep the many advantages of this section of the country well advertised, in order that we may receive a goodly share. Our broad undulating prairies, our forests of heavy timber, intersected with numerous streams of limpid water are far too valuable to remain wild. By simply directing the attention of the emigrant to our many advantages, the country will soon be settled, and our hills and valleys will be dimpled, year after year, by an abundant harvest.

It is true, all places are not alike desirable to the same classes of persons. The tastes, habits, or circumstances of one, may lead him to stock-raising; another to fruit-growing; another to manufacturing; some prefer mechanical, and some professional pursuits; but there is a demand for each of these, and room for all. Amidst so great variety, each, with care, will be suited.

An interest in railroad matters has recently been instituted that will add greatly to our many advantages. One, the Missouri Valley Railroad, to extend from St. Joseph up the valley of the Hundred-and-Two to Des Moines City, Iowa, will be built shortly; and another, the St. Joseph and Council Bluffs Railroad, which will pass through Holt county, along the valley of the Missouri river, is already in course of construction. This latter route will give us a market for everything over the amount needed for home consumption.

To the emigrant, then, we would say, come to Northwest Missouri! Come to Holt county! Our prairies are broad; our lands are cheap; our soil is rich; our industrial resources are unequalled. Come from the pestilence-scourged cities of the Atlantic; come from the multitudinous towns and villages of the Middle States, and we will welcome you. Our brown forests and fertile valleys—bathed in the tranquil sunshine, and sleeping in the quiet solitude of nature—bid you come, and be welcome.

Citizens of Holt, it is to your interest to aid in the great work of securing to this county a portion of the tide of immigration that is surely but steadily flowing into our State. It is to the interest of every one. Let us, then, labor, and we can accomplish much. Let us strive to increase the population of our country, and build up for her a glorious future.

GEN. GRANT AND THE PRESIDENT—CORRESPONDENCE.

The correspondence between General Grant and "His Excellency," Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, has at last made its appearance. It is just what we supposed it would be. They are as far from agreeing upon this matter as the President and Congress is upon the question of reconstruction. General Grant earnestly urges, in the name of a patriotic people, who have sacrificed hundreds of thousands of lives, and thousands of millions of treasure, to preserve the integrity and union of this country, that the order for the removal of Gen. Sheridan be not insisted on; that it is unmistakably the expressed wish of the country that he should not be removed from his present command; that this is a Republic where the will of the people is the law of the land; and begs that their voice may be heard. That Gen. Sheridan has performed his civil duties intelligently and faithfully; that his removal will only be regarded as an effort to defeat the laws of Congress; that it will be interpreted by the unconstructed element in the South—those who did all they could to break up this Government by force of arms, and now wish to be the only element consulted as to the best method of restoring order—as a triumph; and that it will embolden them to renewed opposition to the will of the loyal masses, believing that they have the Executive with them.

On the contrary, Andy intimates that affairs in the Fifth Military District are in a disturbed condition, a bitter spirit of antagonism seeming to have resulted from Gen. Sheridan's management. He says the General has rendered himself exceedingly obnoxious by the manner in which he has exercised even the powers conferred by Congress, and still more so by a resort to authority not granted by law, nor necessary to its faithful and efficient execution; that his rule has, in fact, been one of absolute tyranny, without reference to the principles of our Government, or the nature of our free institutions.

A limited space forbids us summing up the whole of "His Excellency's" slang and abuse. Suffice it to say that his document is a downright contradiction of all that Gen. Grant has suggested respecting the changes to which the order referred, and a trade of abuse against Gen. Sheridan.

GEN. SHERIDAN REMOVED.

ANDY JOHNSON is suit on the downward road. He seems to be sinking lower and lower into the cess-pool of infamy and degradation. He has not only disgraced himself, but the nation whose chief Executive he pretends to be. In his late action in the removal of Gen. Sheridan, the only man who is calculated to deal out justice to a set of scheming conspirators against, and traitors to, the general government, we can see an elaborate portrayal of the spirit of the party who made him President, rather than that of the party who made him Vice-President. There is not the least doubt but that the removal of Gen. Sheridan has been under contemplation a long time between Andy and his copperhead and rebel friends, and that he had long since given his word that the removal would be made.

General Sheridan has done his duty—his whole duty—to establish peace and harmony throughout the States of the Fifth Military District, and all loyal men are willing to reward him with "well done, thou good and faithful servant." The following is the order relieving the General:

General order No. 77. Headquarters Army, Adjutant General's Office, Washington, August 19.—First. The following orders are received from the President: Executive Mansion, Washington, August 17th.—Major General George H. Thomas is hereby assigned to the command of the Fifth Military District, created by act of Congress, passed on the 24th day of March, 1867. Major General P. H. Sheridan is hereby assigned to the command of the Department of Missouri. Major General Winfield Hancock is hereby assigned to the command of the Department of the Cumberland. The Secretaries of War and the Interior will give the necessary instructions to carry this into effect. (Signed,) ANDREW JOHNSON.

Second. In pursuance of the foregoing order of the President of the United States, Major General G. H. Thomas will, on receipt of this order, turn over his command to the officer next in rank to him, and proceed to New Orleans, Louisiana, to relieve Major General Sheridan of the command of the Fifth Military District.

Third. Major General P. H. Sheridan, on being relieved from the command of the Fifth Military district by Major General G. H. Thomas, will proceed to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and relieve Major General W. S. Hancock in command of the Department of Missouri.

Fourth. Major General W. S. Hancock, on being relieved from the command of the Department of Missouri by Major General P. H. Sheridan, will proceed to Louisville, Kentucky, and assume command of the Department of the Cumberland.

Fifth. Major General G. H. Thomas will continue to execute all orders he may find in force in the Fifth Military district at the time of his assuming command of it, unless authorized by the General of the army to amend, alter or modify them.

Sixth. Major General Sheridan, before relieving Major General Hancock, will report in person at these headquarters.

By command of Gen. Grant.
E. D. TOWNSEND, A. A. G.

For the SENTINEL.

OUR RAILROAD, AND OUR DUTY.

That Holt county will have a Railroad before many months, is unquestionable. That Oregon will secure the establishment of a depot at or near Banks' Spring, is another proposition. That the prosperity of Oregon in the future, is, to a vital extent, dependent on its securing a depot, no one doubts; and that the material interests of the country east and north of Oregon would be advanced by the establishment of rival stations so contiguous as Oregon and Forest, is equally clear. Will Oregon secure a depot at Banks? The answer to this question, if affirmative, must come endorsed with a subscription of at least ten thousand dollars, to the capital stock of the road. Assurances have been given, which are entirely satisfactory to our Railroad Committee, that for that amount of stock, we should receive, as our quid pro quo, a depot; without it we have no assurance or reason to hope for even a flag station.

Our citizens are answering this question with entire too much hesitation. Only about one-third of the amount required has been subscribed, and even men of capital who are on the committee to raise our quota of stock have failed to enter their own names upon the subscription. Come, gentlemen of the committee, put your names on the list for sums in proportion to the interests you have at stake, and let us have a vigorous campaign inaugurated and pushed forward until our $10,000 is raised. This is the history of Oregon, let an enterprise be not only commenced, but carried through.

Already business men in our midst have determined that unless this depot is secured they will emigrate. It is not enough for gentlemen to say "I would rather give half I am worth than to lose the depot," and then content themselves with one or two paltry shares when their proportion, according to their assessment list, would be at least twice, or in some cases, six or seven times that amount.

Why not, Mr. Editor, have a few public meetings to talk over this Railroad subscription?

I have heard a number of men, of limited means, say they would unite with others to take stock, ten men for instance, who were only able to give ten dollars each, unite to take one share. In many cases these ten dollar subscriptions would be four fold greater sums in proportion to the wealth of subscribers than sums that have already been subscribed. Who will move in the matter of public meetings, or some other effectual means to secure the small amount of stock required to give us an OREGON DEPOT.

The Cincinnati Times significantly remarks: "The report is that Johnson has finally concluded to nominate Gen. Philip Sheridan for President, or at least for Vice-President in 1868. So certain as the President shall remove him, so certain will the people make him the representative of the Congressional idea as to reconstruction, and the enthusiasm his name cannot fail to evoke will be shocking to the contumacious rebels of the South and their Democratic friends of the North."

In our opinion, when the time comes to nominate a President and Vice-President, Andy Johnson will not have influence enough to nominate a township constable, (if he be loyal,) to say nothing of a man who has such a world-wide reputation as Maj. Gen. P. H. Sheridan. We think that when Andy's career as President is ended, he had better repair to some dismal gorge in the Rocky Mountains, and there live out the rest of his miserable existence, where "the dignity of the epic muse can never reach him."

A match game of Base Ball came off at Brookfield on the 22d inst. Nobody was hurt!

THE contents and history of one of the first papers the President ever received concerning the removal of Secretary Stanton has come to light. It is a petition for his immediate removal, dated about a year ago, and originated at the Philadelphia convention. It was drawn up by John Hogan, of St. Louis, and first signed by the Missouri delegation, and followed by the delegations of Ohio, Indiana, and a part of Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. After the fall election scores of office-seekers, who visited the Capitol, attempted frequently to get their hands on this document to erase their names, but found on inquiring at the White House, that it had been mislaid. Those most anxious to get possession of it were military gents seeking promotion or appointment.

TOM. PENDLETON, formerly a resident of Elwood, Kansas, was shot at Sedalia, Missouri, last month, by a person with whom he had a difficulty about a woman. He is reported to be dangerously wounded.

ON Tuesday, the 22d inst., a man whose name is unknown, committed suicide at the Huxley House, in St. Joseph, by taking laudanum. Suicides are getting popular!
